

TWENTY FIRST GALLERY

Now On View: A Year Around The Sun

Twenty First Gallery is pleased to present A Year Around The Sun, a new selection of works brought together in the first exhibition at the gallery since the shut downs. After a long, challenging winter, glimmers of optimism rise to the surface as the city comes to life again. From delicate flowers and leaves floating in the inky resin of Marcin Rusak's Flora objects, to the softly curving ceramic forms climbing François Salem's Petals lamp, to the brilliant warmth of François Corbeau's Bronze 4 Door Low Cabinet, these works restore movement and light to the space after a period of quiet. The show also introduces energetic new ceramic console pieces by Giuseppe Ducrot, in the artist's first showing at Twenty First Gallery after being recently added to our artist roster. Highly regarded for his spirited large scale ceramics that revitalize the Baroque and classical forms of his native Italy, Ducrot's curling lines and gestural flow signal a renewal and frivolity. Bursting with dynamic expression, A Year Around The Sun heralds the fresh energy of a new season and a renaissance of cultural life.
